

MIA HABIB

A song to...

A song to... explores the evocative power of monumental art.

16 dancers and 30 non dancers are running and falling on stage, using their raw naked bodies to simultaneously incarnate a critical mass and to enhance the singularity and isolation of each of the performers. It is a piece seeping with monumental questions and primal cycles: death, joy, fear, desire.

It is dedicated to a collective human history in all its ambiguity: a declination of the human condition: joining each other in masses, getting old, journeying together, giving up.

A song to... is an overlapping of tableaux vivants and incarnated metaphors.
